Transport Improvements Derby Road

The works to improve Derby Road between Maid Marian Way and Canning Circus are progressing well and the City Council hopes that you are happy with the project so far.

These improvements are part of a programme of works to support economic growth. The programme is funded by Nottingham City Council and the European Regional Development Fund (ERDF).

The pavements are being widened and repaved along the entire length and new trees, street lighting and an additional pedestrian crossing installed. Pay and display parking will remain on both sides of the street.

The first phase of the improvements is nearly complete and other works will take place over the coming months up to November 2015.

The next phase of the improvements will start soon (see plan overleaf), starting at Upper College Street and working towards Canning Circus on the south side of the street. Works will also start at Tollhouse Hill towards the Cathedral to complete this area.

To carry out this work, some temporary arrangements will be needed:

- Traffic reduced to two lanes
- Temporary removal of Pay & Display parking

Access to local businesses, loading and off street parking will be maintained throughout.

After this the next phase of works will start in July and will include a road closure on North Circus Street at its junction with Derby Road, followed by a road closure on Upper College Street at its junction with Derby Road in August. Signed diversion routes will be in place, and some parking will be suspended for a short time during these works. We will let you know further details at the time.
