Corn Mill (remains of)

Local Heritage Asset Register

Basford

HA912

Status:	Recommendation to add
Age:	Stuart (1603-1714)
Conservation Area:	N
Date added to the list:
Condition:	Fair

Assessment against Local Criteria

1. Age: Potential for at least 17th century 2. Potential survival of built fabric or archaeological deposits relating to a water mill for the milling of corn of at least 17th century date 3. High potential for important archaeological remains including the wheel pit

Reason for Designation

High potential of built and archaeological remains of a post-medieval water mill for the processing of corn

Local List Proposal

Description

These are standing remains of a former corn mill. The surviving structural remains are shown on the 1881 Ordnance Survey map, though the age of their construction is unknown. A mill is shown at this location on the 1609 survey of Sherwood Forest. At that time the mill was owned by George Sturley. It is labelled as a 'flour mill' on Sanderson's map of 1835. It was in use as a corn mill into the early-mid 20th century. The remains are visible on satellite images. I am informed by a local resident that the remains have occasionally been vandalised.

© Crown copyright and database right 2020. Ordnance Survey Licence number 100019317.
Please note some of the images are taken from Google Street View. Map data©2019 Google .

Nottingham City Council

Corn Mill (remains of)

Local Heritage Asset Register

Basford HA912

Additional Description:

Heritage category:	Archaeology
Asset type:	Industrial
Original use:	Industrial
Current use:
Currently occupied:	No
Architect, style / material:
Condition:	Fair

Part of a group of heritage assets:

No

Associated with historical events or people:

Is it associated with any buried remains or archaeology? If so please describe:

The !7th Century Cornmill at the site is now demolished so survives as archaeology

How is it of importance to the local community? :

Selection Panel Date:	Date added to the list:
03/06/2019

Nottingham City Council