99/The Atrium Hucknall Road

Local Heritage Asset Register

Berridge HA228

Status:	Recommendation to add
Age:	Early to Mid-20th Century
Conservation Area:	No
Date added to the list:
Condition:	Fair

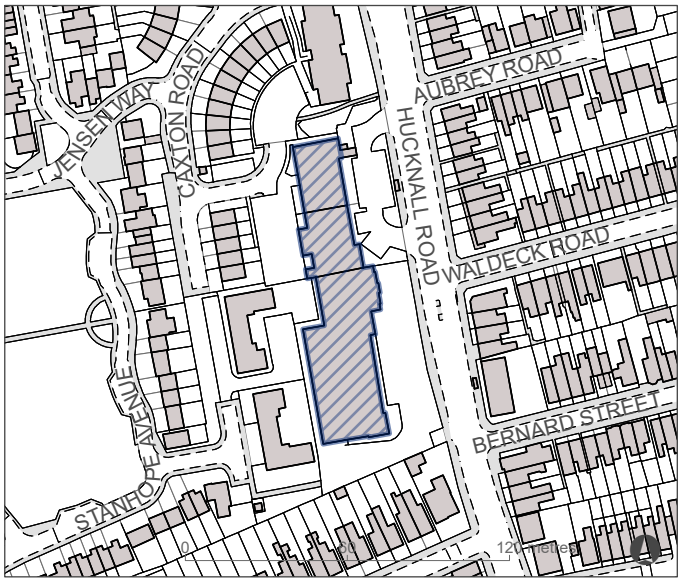

Assessment against Local Criteria

1 Age: 1914-1960
2 Good quality Neo-Classical Design
3 Associated with a good local architectural practice
4 Office block to the first purpose-built printing works nationally

Reason for Designation

Office wing of the earliest surviving purpose-built printing factory in the country built in a refined Neo-Classical style by an important local practice

Local List Proposal

Description

Office wing to the formerly the Thomas Forman & Sons printing factory, 1926 by Evans, Clark and Woollatt. The first purpose built printing factory in the country. All except the office wing was demolished in 2001. Wide, symmetrical, giant order frontage with central Doric portico. Brick and Protland Stone with large steel framed windows. Original decorative railings and gates with company crest suvive in good condition along road frontage. The factory closed in 1998.

© Crown copyright and database right 2019. Ordnance Survey Licence number 100019317.
Please note some of the images are taken from Google Street View. Map data©2019 Google .

Nottingham City Council

99/The Atrium Hucknall Road

Local Heritage Asset Register

Berridge HA228

Additional Description:

Further information at http://thosforman-preservation-society.org.uk/
During the last 52 years of the Company's existence, many changes and developments took place at the factory in Hucknall Road until its eventual closure. At its peak Forman's employed over 1,000 people.
There were several divisions of the Company which produced general print, labels, cartons, calendars, stationery and security print. Each division had its own sales force and at the height of the Company's success, there were area sales offices in London, Liverpool and Birmingham.
The factory at Hucknall Road consisted of a number of departments printing by letterpress, litho, gravure and die-stamping processes. The Company also had its own Design Studio, Composing, Reproduction, Finishing, Laboratory, Engineering and Personnel departments.

Heritage category:	Building
Asset type:	Industrial
Original use:	Office
Current use:	Office
Currently occupied:	Yes
Architect, style / material:	Evans, Clark and Woollatt
Condition:	Fair

Part of a group of heritage assets:

Associated with historical events or people:

Is it associated with any buried remains or archaeology? If so please describe:

How is it of importance to the local community? :

The building has been the Indian Community Centre Association since 2003

Selection Panel Date:	Date added to the list:
05/11/2019

Nottingham City Council